profile

I recently completed my vocational training as a Developer (Fachinformatikerin für Anwendungsentwicklung). In addition, I successfully finished an online program in Graphic Design. During my training and through self-directed learning as well as through job experience, I gained experience with using Laravel, PHP, and SQL, and acquired foundational knowledge in React, Node.js, and Express. This combination of technical expertise and design skills enables me to develop modern, user-friendly web applications with flexibility and creativity. I am highly adaptable and quick to learn new programming languages, frameworks, and business tools as required.
